

Transforming the impact of financial information: the role of technology

Are traditional metrics still relevant?

Effective communication of accurate, timely, insightful information is the corner stone of well-functioning capital markets. How are technological changes affecting information consumption? What are the potential benefits, or pitfalls to consider?

This event will explore current and future implications in capital markets from different perspectives:

Panellists

- David Wright Director, EMEA Head of Product Strategy, Systematic Active Equity, BlackRock's Active Equity Group
- Dr. Andrei Kirilenko Director of the Centre for Global Finance and Technology, Imperial College Business School
- Kirstin Gillon Global Technology Lead, ICAEW
- Kurt Schacht, CFA Managing Director, Advocacy, CFA Institute
- Hans Hoogervorst Chair, IASB

5 June 2018

17:30 Registration and refreshments

18:00 Panel discussion

19:15 Drinks and canapés

RSVP to:

Jennifer McFaul: jmcfaul@ifrs.org

By invitation only

Location: London, England

CFA Institute

